UNLOCKING BARRIERS TO CARE

BSDH Winter Conference 2015

Politics, public health and policies – what is the future for special care dentistry?

Friday 4 December 2015

Institute of Education - 20 Bedford Way,
London WC1H 0AL

Welcome to London

Graham Manley, President, BSDH 2015

On behalf of the British Society for Disability and Oral Health, I look forward to welcoming you to the Winter Conference at the Institute of Education in London to discuss politics, public health and policies.

The heart of special care dentistry lies within the primary care community dental services, of course supported by secondary care and especially teaching hospital centres. It appears to be the case that what special care dentistry does is decided by the requirements, perhaps even demands, of the people who have a special need and, or what is commissioned to be provided! A certain Charles Darwin had an idea about adapting to change in order to survive. Can special care services adapt and survive, but maintain standards and principles of care?

The conference will consider these issues, the policies that relate to essential management skills that must be provided at the direct clinical patient level.

Our appointed accommodation agency Mice Concierge are on hand to help you with your accommodation. They have secured rooms at a range of nearby hotels to match a variety of budgets.

I am sure that you will find the event enjoyable and look forward to seeing you in London.
